טופס הסכמה: ניתוח לכריתת עקב הגדלה שפירה

CONSENT FORM: PROSTATECTOMY FOR BENIGN HYPERPLASIA

The operation is performed in cases of benign enlargement of the prostate gland, causing disturbances in urination or in the urinary system. Several methods can be used to remove the prostate: abdominal approach (open prostatectomy); urethral approach (closed prostatectomy or TURP [transurethral resection of prostate]), or other methods. Transurethral operations are enabled by the use of various energy sources.

The surgical method is selected at the surgeon's discretion.

Following the operation, a catheter will remain in the urinary bladder to enable flushing of blood clots from the surgical area.
